AVIATOR IS JAILED.

Aeroplane Mechanic Alleged Implicated in Neutrality Case Is Brought Here from Seattle.

Richard W. Graeme, an aeroplane mechanician arrested at Seattle recently on the charge that he had been implicated in taking the 80-horsepower machine purchased of Glenn L. Martin across the Mexican border to Didier Masson, was placed in the County Jail yesterday afternoon.

Deputy United States Marshal George B. Devenpeck, of Seattle, brought the prisoner south. After the disappearance of the aeroplane from El Paso, Graeme was under suspicion, and it is alleged that he was traced through information given the authorities by a woman with whom he had left Douglas, Arizona, where he lived. Graeme is under a $5000 bond, fixed by Judge Wellborn when the indictment was returned by the Federal grand jury some weeks ago.

Ad Club Confers Degree and Honorary Membership on ex-Mayor, Now Private Citizen.

At its weekly luncheon at Christopher's yesterday the Los Angeles Ad Club formally bade good-bye to ex-Mayor Alexander in speech and song, and conferred upon him an honorary membership and the degree of "Ex." In his farewell address to the club, marking the close of his administration and his long service as a public official, the former Mayor commanded the club on its work in promoting honest advertising, and assured the members of his continued goodwill and support.

The diploma, conferring the "Ex" degree, was presented by George Harrison, chairman of the day. It of goatskin, hand illuminated and appropriately inscribed. R. J. Shoemaker, in presenting the honorary membership, told the ex-Mayor that he would be expected to swear allegiance to the club's principles, ex-tol its members, extend the hand of fellowship to them and expect nothing from the club except a 50-cent luncheon which he would be expected to pay for.

Trustee Neely Comes Back at Bishop Waterhouse.

Charges Creation of Untrue Impression of Facts.

Wee Giftie 'o Skibo's Laird Makes Muckle Trouble.

G. M. Neely, the Nashville trustee of Vanderbilt University, who stirred up Methodism last week with the charge, exclusively reported in The Times, that the Methodist bishops vetoed Carnegie's gift of $1,000,000 to the university partly as part of a personal fight on Chancellor Kirkland and partly merely in order to vetoing something, came to the front again yesterday with a statement in which he charges Bishop Waterhouse of Los Angeles with the creation of a misapprehension as to the control of the medical department, for which the gift is intended.

In his statement in Sunday's Times defending the action of the bishops, said Neely at the Hotel Mt. Washington yesterday, "Bishop Waterhouse leaves the impression that the board of trust had actually given up all control of this department and turned it over to an independent governing body unapproachable like a kingdom. That this is not true is shown conclusively by the following rules for the conduct of the medical department in accordance with the conditions of the Carnegie donation.

"(1) The members of the governing board of the medical department shall be elected by the board of trust.

ONE MAN'S TWO UNITED STATES COMMISSIONERS.

ANOTHER plum has been exposed to the enraptured gaze of the hungry and thirsty Democrats of Los Angeles.

However, the information need excite no riot among the dwellers in the political wilderness for the man who picks the plum has been selected, and there need be no worry on the part of the army of the left.

Atty.-Gen. Reynolds, at the head of the legal department of the Wilson administration, has a new way of getting United States Commissioners, and under instructions just received by Judge Wellborn, one appointment will be made to succeed Commissioners William M. Van Dyke and Charles N. Williams.

It has been decided that hereafter no clerk or deputy clerk of the United States District Court shall be eligible to appointment to the post of Commissioner of Comptroller.

Thursday California Christian Endeavor Union, Arthur J. Gatter presiding, 11 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. Evening—Convention session, John Willis Palmer, presiding; addressed by Dr. Clinton Shaw and Treasurer Lathrop.

Friday—3:30, fellowship meeting; church; noted speakers. 9 p.m., after parade, concert by the chorus.

Saturday—2:30, junior rally. Even-nings occur previous to the annual meeting of the board, the Executive Committee shall have power to fill the same until the next regular meeting of the board of trust.

"(2) Members of said governing board shall hold office for eight years or until their successors are elected, but may be removed for cause by the board of trust at any annual meeting.

"(3) Said governing board of seven shall elect its own secretary and keep a record of its own proceedings, which record shall always be open and accessible to the board of trust, or to the Executive Committee of said board, or to the president of the board of trust, or to the members of said board shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business.

"(4) The chancellor shall, in connection with his annual report, make a summary of the most important business transacted by the governing board of the medical department, and these actions of the board of trust shall be subject to the ratification and approval of the board of trust.

"I leave the public to judge if the grounds for the veto were not altogether insufficient, and I must again express the conviction that the right is purely a personal one on the part of a few against Chancellor Kirkland, who is, undoubtedly, the university's greatest asset."

That part of Bishop Waterhouse's statement to which Neely takes exception was as follows:

"My congregation is really making no gift, and does not desire to make any to Vanderbilt University so long as it is owned and controlled by the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, or any other church. In his letter to Dr. Kirkland, as secretary of the Executive Committee of Vanderbilt

The job is not one sufficient to attract any attorney alone, but it will go to some member of the bar who can carry on the duties of the place while practicing his profession. The name of the new man is not yet officially made known.

The new commission of Van Dyke has expired, and he is out of official harness so far as the commissionership is concerned. That of Williams has some months to run, but the appointment to be made will automatically relieve him.

So far, as the local case is concerned, there has been no complaint that the commissionership interfered in any way with the administration of the duties of the clerk. On the other hand, Special Agent Masterson, who recently concluded an investigation of the transactions of Clerk Van Dyke, attested to the absolute correctness of all the books and complimented the clerk besides.

GETTING LIMELIGHT.

Edna Marsh, a chorus girl at the Metropolitan picture house, North Main street, caused the arrest yesterday of E. C. Levinson, a traveling salesman, on a charge of disturbing the peace. Proceedings During His Preliminary Examination Uninteresting to Him but Wife is Intensely Interested in Filing of Divorce Papers—Another Woman in Court

While Ade Orrill, real estate man and sportman, was arraigned in the University Court yesterday on complaint of his wife, who says he tried to kill her, she was having diversions.

At the University Court Orrill's preliminary hearing was set for Tuesday next, and he was held in $15,000 bail. He avowed little interest in the proceedings and refused to discuss the case or "the other woman" mentioned by his wife as the cause of the trouble.

The divorce suit throws some light on the dramatic scene at home No. 1831 Cherry street, Monday, when she says, Orrill went on a rampage, terrorized her to the point of screaming up a bedspread for use as a means of escape from a window and threatened a policeman who came to her door.

Mrs. Orrill says she found a letter from "the other woman" in her husband's pocket, and that he tried to cover the woman's identity, but that he himself made known the name of having stolen it and threatened her with death unless she returned it.

The couple have two children, 11 years old and 6. Ade, the wife, is young, Mrs. Orrill, the wife, is 32, with $400 and earns $250.

PERSONALLY RESPONSIBLE.

A physician of Spokane superintended the removal of his own appendix and jested with the surgeon who did the work. You can have no quarrel with him on this score. It is most entirely his own funeral.

NO TIME TO BRAG.
New York seems proud of the fact that it exported three million dollars in gold to Paris Monday morning. Mr. McAdoo returned from an unpleasant mission to Pittsburgh that same day. This is not a good time to oblige foreign countries and especially a country which has billions to loan in every direction.

IS IT COMING.
A San Jose physician who deserted his family will be brought back from Honolulu and be tried on a felony charge. This is entirely fitting. A man who is disloyal to his family is worth nothing as a citizen to any country. If he will not keep his most sacred obligation, he is certainly not to be trusted far in other affairs.

CARELESS.
A San Francisco man bought two cigars for a nickel and found a large, clear diamond in one of them. That same day a San Francisco woman lost several diamonds out of her stocking. Perhaps a woman ought not to wear diamonds in a cigar or in her hosiery, but it is only fair for a man to find diamonds where he can.

A GREAT MOOD.
The summertime is good to ripen fruit and produce scenery. The landscapes at twilight glow beneath an indefinable witchery and coloring. Nature's completeness is never better illustrated than by the twilight hour. All her soft glory is then gently visible. There is something about the warmth of summer which infuses the early evening with ineffable loveliness.

A CAUSE OF QUARREL.
Several young men of the University of Wisconsin complained because the public gathered in front of their frat houses to observe a group of young women who have been making a habit of taking their daily dip in men's bathing suits in the water at that point. It will be noticed that the complaint is against the public and is not directed at the fair bathers. A college man is nothing if not gallant.

GOING TOO FAR.
Woodrow Wilson started on his perilous career at Washington by announcing his intention to be good to newspaper correspondents. They in turn have been good to him. It is going too far, however, when they send us dispatches from his summer home in New Hampshire at this season announcing that the President enjoys a big wood fire every night. We refuse to believe that either Cornish or the President can be that cold.

A LIVELY WIRE.
We are glad to have William Shaw in Los Angeles at this time. Shaw has had a grand career as the head of the Young People's Christian Endeavor Society. He is one of the world's ablest religious leaders and has carried his organization through many a crisis. Above all, he has kept the society imbued with a spirit of youth and of usefulness. He has also preserved it from the radical and from the dead, directing it in the middle course of wisdom. He cannot see Los Angeles and not be its friend, and friends like Shaw are worth while to a city.

NO GREAT CRIME.
The Secretary of War thinks Arizona has recruited its militia too strongly for its annual encampment. We are not sure that the Ditch law, preventing this, is a good measure. Certainly the country requires more trained soldiers. It also needs a big army of men hardened to camp life. Such an outing as the State militia takes is good training for the men who are free to enjoy it. The government should have no quarrel with Arizona. In case of war probably no other State in the Union would offer such a large pro rata of men fit for service. If they take a holiday now and then at the country's expense, they are at least willing to pay for it on demand. Perhaps the entire question might be settled by putting an end to the payment of men on these expeditions and thereby reduce the expense of encampments to the actual cost of equipment and supplies.

A CASUAL MEETING.

MUST ACT NOW.
The manner as well as the matter of President Wilson's address to Congress in behalf of his new banking and currency measure was sharply criticised by the non-Democratic eastern press and made the subject of caustic comment by Congressman Mann. Senators and Representatives of both parties freely expressed the opinion that the extra session of Congress should end with the passage of the tariff bill. To this the President would not agree. He snapped his jaws and glowered fiercely through his eyeglasses as he said: "We must act NOW at whatever sacrifice to ourselves." He clinched his jaws again and brought his right hand down with a thump as he said: "I come as the head of the government and the responsible leader of the party in power to urge action NOW." Congressman Mann said to a New York Times interviewer: "There was nothing in the President's address unless it be consid-

GRAHAM AND HENDERSON.
S. C. Graham and Frank G. Henderson, the misfit members of the Board of Public Service Commissioners appointed by Mayor Alexander, have resigned; they have followed Uncle Aleck in retirement: they are out of jobs for which they had no fitness and in which they failed to make good. The follies and blunders of these two "resigned" commissioners probably contributed more than aught else to the final downfall of the Alexander administration; and Mayor Rose was not in such a hurry about anything else as in getting rid of these two Jonahs.

Graham had made an unsatisfactory record as a Police Commissioner before he was appointed to the water board. His spectacular appearance on a certain sad occasion is not forgotten and gave rise to many quips at the time. He did not remain on the police board long after that affair, but as a consequence of his political activities in the Goo Goo cause, the Mayor was bound to have him in his cabinet and made him a Public Service Commissioner. He made himself very unpopular by fathering an outrageous increase in the rate for service extensions to new subdivisions—an arbitrary measure for which no satisfactory excuse was ever given, and which hampered the growth of these two Jonahs.

The blow that politically put an end to Graham, however, was the repudiation by the people of Los Angeles, by an overwhelming vote, of his "High Line" scheme—a proposition to mortgage the property of the taxpayers of this city for six or seven millions of dollars, to build an extension of the aqueduct to Pasadena and San Dimas for peddling the surplus water to consumers not in sight. The revenue from this enormously costly and very vicious proposition could not have been more than a few thousand dollars a year; and the voters took the ground that they would not saddle themselves with an additional debt of six or seven millions to build a pipe line for the benefit of outlying communities that should construct and pay for a pipe line of their own if they wanted one. The "High Line" scheme must have been conceived in either spite or stupidity—and so the people voted three to one, in spite of Graham's persistent and extraordinary campaigning, backed by E. Tobias Earl, to put the woe-bane over. Ah, it was a humiliating defeat.

Henderson was a stenographer and clerk, whom the Mayor made his private secretary and afterwards jumped into the office of president of the Board of Public Service Commissioners, over the strong protests of his own political associates. The idea of placing at the head of the most important department of the city government a clerk of no large business experience and no special fitness was so preposterous that it raised a howl from the galleries. Mayor Alexander bailed it through, however, and Henderson had the nerve to vote for himself as president of the board, the only salaried position on it. Little Frankie subsequently won some unpleasant notoriety by getting Guy Eddie to cause the arrest of three of the managers of The Times on the charge of criminal libel, alleging that The Times had libeled Henderson by saying that he had "done the Mayor's dirty work." The Times presented its evidence, and the jury in Judge Chamber's court decided that it did not libel Henderson by so saying or in any of its numerous criticisms—returning a verdict of acquittal for the accused, after the Alexander administration had been shot full of holes by the witnesses.

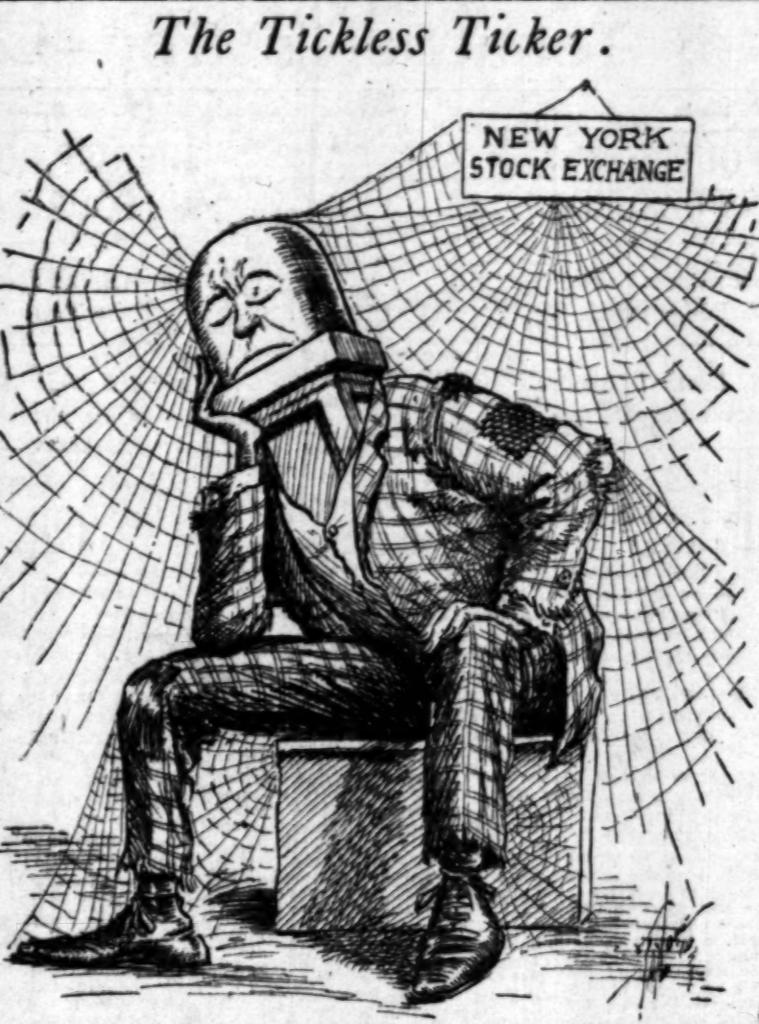

Henderson stood in with Graham on all his schemes, fighting for the iniquitous increase in service pipe extension rates and for the "High Line" folly which Bill Mulholland, the father of the aqueduct, characterized as a job of "audacious rapacity." The little clerk not only used what he had in writing "pieces" in behalf of the "High Line," but took his pen in hand to do small-boy battle for the advance in water-service rates which caused the near-riot among lot owners. Henderson and Graham fitly went down together. The fact is that Graham and Henderson are just natural-born private citizens, intended by their maker to be kept busy pottering about petty affairs. Henderson might just as well have been selected to build the Panama Canal as for the post that was given to him—and God knows the last place in the world for Graham was on a water board! Mayor Rose is to be congratulated upon the neat but not gaudy style in which he secured their resignations. The city has suffered sorely from incompetency and do-nothingism on the Public Service Commission; it has lost millions in this way. It is hard to conceive of such maladministration as we have had—spending $24,000,000 on the great aqueduct enterprise and providing no equipment to make use of it on its completion! We are two years behind where we should be in this respect. It certainly is to be hoped that Mayor Rose's water board will speedily adjust the surplus water problem and electric power question to the great advantage of the city. The way is clear, now that Graham and Henderson are numbered among the officially defunct. "What was the complaint?" asked a stranger of a villager who had mentioned the death of a prominent citizen. "There was no complaint," answered the villager; "there was general satisfaction."

The reduction in tariff duties will, to the extent of the reduction, lessen the price of imported goods. That will inevitably lessen the price of home-manufactured goods of the same class. The manufacturers of such goods will meet the situation by keeping his establishment going at a smaller profit or at no profit at all, while he waits for the resolute wave of common sense that will sweep Democracy and free trade from power and restore Republicanism and protection.

But with the reduction or abandonment of profit he will stop. He will not run his establishment at an absolute loss. The bulk of loss entailed by lowering the cost of manufacture must come out of the wages of the workmen. There is no other place from whence it can be taken. Labor combinations will not avert reduction of wages. Strikes will not prevent them. The laborers must take his share of the medicine. The farmer must accept a lower price for his beets, the worker in the sugar factory must accept lower wages, the sheep owner must take a lower price for wool, the herders and shearers must submit to a reduction of pay. All that the workers can do will be to hold mass meetings and mutually and unanimously kick themselves for having voted the Democratic ticket.

There is a story extant of an enraged Indiana manufacturer, who, after the second election of Cleveland, proposed to close his factory. He was waited upon by his workmen, who remonstrated against the proposed loss of employment. "Get other jobs," said he. "There are no other jobs," they replied. "Well, loaf under the trees," said he. "What shall we eat?" said they. "Eat!" he replied. "Eat the roosters you wore in your hats when you marched along the street crowing over a Democratic victory."

WILSON'S CURRENCY BILL.
WEAKNESS AND STRENGTH.

BY GEORGE W. BURTON.

It is reassuring to business men generally and particularly to those engaged in banking (the foundation of all business) to learn from the mouth of Senator Owen that the Senate will give bankers and other business men ample opportunity to set forth their views upon the proposed act to change the banking system of the country.

When the outline of this proposed law first reached the public mind there was much satisfaction as to the proposed reform. It left our banking system intact as to its great outlines, disturbing none of its fundamental principles. But when the act came forth in full it was found that a good many of these features had been radically changed. Then followed emphatic objection from the banking world almost universally and from the business world very largely. Every change made from the first version was for the worse, some of them very much so.

As I have said heretofore in this series of articles, the system under which we now do our banking is one of the best in the world. All it needs is a few changes to make it really the best. This is the reason why bankers and other business men are so disposed to be satisfied in that the proposed law does not make many radical changes in the system as it is. It had been proposed to wipe out at once the national bank currency circulating on a security of government bonds, and to substitute therefor treasury notes with an unlimited issue possible. The bill as it stands at present removes this objectionable feature, providing a period of twenty years in which to change the bond-secured circulation of the national banks to a currency consisting entirely of treasury notes. This is an excellent thing for the government as well as for the people, for it leaves the national credit resting on a 2 per cent. interest basis, the lowest in the world, saving the people a good deal of money in interest. This will appear on a comparison of our 2 per cent. government credit with 3½ per cent. in England and 4½ and more in Germany.

The monetary commission appointed by the late Congress proposed an effective remedy for the defects of our banking system. That plan would have left our reserve associations as they are and provided for the management of the reserve associations by a board of directors chosen by the member banks of each reserve district. It proposed to supplement this part of the system by allowing the reserve associations to create a great central reserve bank in which all the reserve banks might hold membership. All these banks, including the great central one, were to be managed by a board of directors and officials chosen by the managers thereof under the provisions of the banking law, and under the supervision of the Secretary of the Treasury.

Here we have the two main differences between the bill as proposed by this monetary commission and that about to come before Congress. The new bill leaves out all provision for the great central bank, and puts the whole banking system of the country under the control of a commission of seven members three of whom are to be ex-officio members of the President's Cabinet and the other four to be appointed by the President without any intervention on the part of the bankers or the public; and only one of these need have had any previous experience in the banking business.

Why so vast a number of our people should have an immovable prejudice, apparently founded on invincible ignorance, to a central bank is difficult to conceive. In the minds of bankers in all parts of the world and of business men of large experience such a central bank is an absolute necessity to properly handle monetary transactions of an international character created by foreign commerce both export and import. It is also viewed by these classes of people as almost if not entirely necessary to have such a bank in order to create a quick, active market to handle commercial credits such as notes, bills of exchange and other evidence of pecuniary obligations.

But we have got along without a central bank and have enlarged our commerce marvelously in spite of all the difficulties. Business men, therefore, whose experience is on a large scale, bear with this defect in the banking system with a great deal more equanimity than they feel when they come to contemplate putting the whole financial system of the country in the hands of seven men appointed by the President, only one of whom need necessarily know anything about banking. Bankers and other business men look further than the end of their noses and further than the end of the present administration. Whatever confidence they might have in the present occupant of the President's chair, they cannot but feel the uncertainty wrapped up in the future in the possible election of an objectionable man to the Presidency.

It is well known that this commission to supervise the whole banking business of the country emanated from the mind of Mr. Wilson's Secretary of State. Mr. Bryan has tried to persuade the people of the United States on numerous occasions to elect him to the Presidency and to put the stamp of their approval on his very revolutionary financial views. They have uniformly refused to do it, and they would look with unspeakable misgiving on the contingency of Mr. Bryan's succeeding, in 1916 or 1920, in reaching the goal of his ambition, with the power to appoint a commission composed of men of his own views to control the whole money system of the United States.

"Please miss," cried one little girl excitedly, "my father was in the Boer War."

"And did he fight in any of the battles?" inquired the teacher.

"Oh yes," answered the little maid. "He was at Graspan, and Modder River, and Paardeberg, and—"

"And was he wounded in any of them?" pursued the teacher. The little girl's countenance fell.

"No, miss, 'e wasn't wounded," she replied; then she brightened up. "But, please, miss, 'e 'ad a awful headache!"

ANOTHER LIVELY BUNCH ARRIVES AT AVALON CAMP.

AVALON, July 8.—The Times | Camp, as usual, is proving the mecca of all the "lives" of Southern California's really "live" boys. The past record of the camp for showing each and every boy a good time, the glowing accounts that have been going "back home" about the "good eats," the free bathing suits and fishing tackle, the baseball games, the band concerts and the exhilarating and exciting "goat hunts" are firing the ardor of many a "miracle" if any man, woman or child south of the Tehachapi shall escape being asked to "see" The Times, just "for a month."

Yesterday was "change day," the boys of Camp No. 2, returning for the "noon boat" and the "2:30 boat." There was much excitement among the many healthy fellows who gathered around Cliff and Camp's sumptuous 1 o'clock dinner; the greeting of old friends and the meeting of new ones on an enchanted ground on the part of the "old" campers. Roy Cullen was the center of an excited group today. He is the proud possessor of a five-pound-and-ten-ounce barracuda. This is the largest fish caught so far and puts George in the running for the title of all-time champion presented by the Tufts-Lyon company.

This morning the camp was awakened by loud roar from tent No. 5. An investigation by the superintendent showed that the excited Roy Cullen of San Bernardino, "Little Waldo" of Pasadena had grown tired of repose and had determined to "start something." Like all small boys, his first thought was of a pillow fight. Roy had been presented the best pillow and so decided the job. Now, just at that moment, Roy was dreaming that he was out on one of

RESCUES CHILDREN.

Mother Wades Through Flames to Save Youngsters Jeopardized by Her Carelessness.

A statement for her carelessness in bringing about an explosion of the gasoline stove on which she was preparing breakfast yesterday, Mrs. Mary Hernandez literally waded through fire to a successful effort to rescue her four children. The woman, severely burned, was subsequently taken to the Receiving Hospital. She smiled even in her pain when assured that her babies were safe.

Eugene Hernandez, the husband; Mike Hernandez, his brother, and Jose Ramirez, brother-in-law, burned about the hands in an effort to extinguish the fire at the family home, No. 428 Amelia street.

Mrs. Hernandez found after she had freed her babies from the fire without turning out the blaze she filled the tank. The explosion wrecked the room and flames threatened the three-room house.

Minutes after the children awoke in an adjoining room the mother disregarded her own burns and rushed through the fire and smoke to the rescue of the little ones. Before the mother reached the house, however, awake the mother had made two trips through the flames and the children were on the outside, none the worse for their experience other than scorched night clothes.

BIRDWOMAN KILLS SELF.

Miss MacDuff, in Several Los Angeles Flights Last Winter, Commits Suicide in Paris.

Agnes MacDuff, an aviator, and known among local birdmen and bird-women as Agnes Firth, committed suicide in Paris yesterday, according to a cablegram received last night. It is reported that she was in love with a prominent business man of Boston. Miss MacDuff was in Los Angeles for several weeks last winter, making her first flights with Leonard Bonney at Dominguez Field. While here she was known as Agnes Firth, although after she went East she piloted her own air car until she got several engagements both in this country and abroad. A sister, Harriet MacDuff, taught school in Los Angeles last year.

PROHIBITIONISTS TO CONFER HERE.

THREE-DAY SESSION BEGINS NEXT TUESDAY.

Semi-National and State Gathering to Follow Immediately After the Christian Endeavor Convention and Will Be Addressed by Notable Participants in Letter.

The Semi-National and State Prohibition Conference will open next Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock, in the First Nazarene Church, corner Sixth and Wall streets, for a three-day session. The opening address will be delivered by General Secretary Shaw of the United Society of Christian Endeavor. His subject will be "Why I Became a Non-Prohibitionist." The address will be followed by a reception to Shaw and other prominent speakers from outside the State.

The afternoon will be taken up with discussions on "Organized Prohibition," Daniel C. Polk, national superintendent of Temperance and Christian Citizenship, U.S.C.E., will deliver the evening address.

"Concentration" will occupy the morning session on Wednesday, Wednesday afternoon will be given over to a discussion of veterans. This is expected to be one of the best features of the conference.

William G. Calderwood, State chairman of Minnesota Prohibition Committee, will deliver the Wednesday evening address.

Wednesday afternoon will be given over to a discussion for the Thursday morning session will be "Legislation." Thursday afternoon the subject will be "Crystallization."

Mrs. Carrie Lee Carter-Stokes, national lecturer for the W.C.T.U., and Mrs. Elizabeth C. Johnson, of the Missouri W.C.T.U., will deliver the closing address Thursday evening.

Several other prominent speakers will appear on the programme, among whom is expected to be National Chairman of the W.C.T.U., Chicago. The Negro orchestra will furnish music for the evening sessions.

The three-day's conference promises to be the most important event along Prohibition party lines that has ever been held on the Coast.

OUR UNCORSETED AGE AN ERA OF DECEPTION.

Mrs. Alice Barclay,

Who explained yesterday that American women are now spending more money than ever for corsets, but strive to appear not to be wearing them. She calls this the "uncorseted" age—a term that husbands and fathers who pay the bills cannot understand. She is an authority, having introduced the front-laced corset in the West.

French women are not wearing corsets at all now, but American women follow the fashion closely. French women are small. The portly American woman does not dare leave off laces for obvious reasons.

"Twelve years ago I introduced the front-laced corset in the West and Midwest," she said. "It was an innovation."

"By the way," interrupted the male interviewer, "before corsets were laced in front where were they laced at the top?"

Such is the anomalous situation in the corset underworld, as explained yesterday by Mrs. Alice Barclay, corset authority, who has visited Los Angeles twice a year for a decade in the interest of that more-or-less instrument of torture. She is at the Alexandria.

The highest art in corsetry now is to make the uncorseted effect the expert began, "and to bring out the best lines of the body. Fashionable

DAILY BEAUTY HINT: A lotion, which is highly recommended by those who have used it as a deodorant and something more than the usual, has recently appeared in one of the Broadway houses which has an especially well-equipped toilet department. This application comes in a tapering bottle and is of a rosy tint. It is said that after applying 'nighly five times in succession, it will have so improved the health of the glands that thereafter but infrequent use of the lotion is necessary.

Of all the disagreeable people that one meets, I think the technical ones are worst.

Sometimes they run street cars, again they are salespeople in stores, and sometimes they manipulate elevators.

The technical person gets it into his head that the all-important matter is to start his elevator or his street car just on the dot and to wait for no one, no matter what the circumstances. It is an entire oblivious mind that these conveniences are primarily for the purpose of accommodating the public. If, by holding his chariot for the fraction of an instant, he can allow the entrance of someone, he wouldn't for the world wait that fraction of an instant.

There is no use in the salespersons of that stamp. He does everything in a manner technically correct, but as for accommodating anyone by the slightest variation from rigid rules, he never imagines this possible. I suppose as a matter of fact, rules were made for such people as these, for they have no brains, but they had them when they were young, and then they would no longer continue in the positions of underlings but would be doing something initiative. It is rather a matter of satisfaction to me to think that he is there and to feel that while the painfully technical person is still engaged in making everything subservient to fixed rules, the accommodating one will be mounting to well-deserved heights. Some one has been bold enough to say that rules were made to break, and while this is always true, certainly there are times when rules should be at least varied and the person of any sort of brains should know this.

There's No Hope.

There is no hope that Mary Jane will go out of style very soon, for they are now made in white buck, nubuck and canvas.

How They Swarmed.

If anyone had the least doubt as to whether Sunday newspapers are generally read, he should have paid a visit to that oriental store which last Sunday advertised that on Monday morning the annual clearance sale would open. "Behind room over" might have been pasted along all the counters where people were eagerly availing themselves of the great bargains offered.

"Do You Eat 'Em?"

That is what I heard a lady ask, as she looked at those oriental gardens which are laid out in the dish, the bottom of which sprouts from out an odd horseshoe-looking foot. These little gardens do look "good enough to eat," but they are pretty enough to be merely ornamental without being put to any plebian use.

You Put Up With This.

A peach pitter and a peach peeler are two conveniences for those who are in the habit of storing their closets with fruits canned, preserved and pickled.

In Circles.

Pretty sets of enamelled pins for use in trimming blouses are seen in the colors of favorite flowers. These pins come in sets of three, formed into the popular circles of present day mode.

Even the "happiness blue-bird" is seen with wings so arranged as to form the friendship circle.

To Tempt Old Neptune.

The girl who goes bathing, now, always has something for bathing, anything but pretty. The bathing suits are as pretty as dancing frocks and with the daintily colored caps and silken hose, as well as sandals she looks charming. M. indeed, she has charm at any time. And now, as a final fetch to catch to tempt the caresses of old Neptune, she wears natural colored flowers upon her cap and also upon the breast of her bathing suit. Natural colored flowers and flowers which the salt waves cannot spoil, for these are made of rubber and velveteen. The buds in all the shades of nature and with leaves as green and fresh looking as the "flowers that bloom in the spring."

A Sale of Robes.

For the smallest gold coin you may obtain, in that sale of finely embroidered robes, something good enough to make up for dress occasions. These are wonderfully wide range of colors and designs in the lot, and that they are appreciated is attested by the many who are availing themselves of the opportunity of buying.

the back the bumps showed through a close-fitting gown.

The chief glory of the front-laced corsets is that it gives the plain "habit back." This is necessary in maintaining good development, muscular development, the contour of the head and various other measurements.

"Also there are good and sufficient hygienic reasons why the front-laced corset is the best. It is a perfect abdominal binder, but it is not so good in front. The injury that has been done by corsets in all ages was due to tight lacing and the downward pressure from the waist line. It was a situation that was productive of many illnesses. The corset of the present has straight lines, a large waist, straight hips and low bust."

By way of illustration Mrs. Barclay took a sample from her valise. It was one of the front-laced variety, dimensioned to fit a woman of 44. "What makes the near-corset so expensive?" asked the male reporter.

"It is made of expensive material and the work is done mostly by hand. Corset designers are paid high salaries and the cost is paid for corsets now by fashionable women is $25. The age of the 50-cent corset is gone."

"The doctors may wish to take credit for the enlarged waistline of the present-day corsets, but I believe the chief reason is due principally to changes in fashion. The drapery effects in dress, the Grecian styles so popular now, are largely responsible for the evolution in corsets."

"The programme for the lecture and demonstration courses has not been fully completed, but will include the following: 'Hygiene,' Dr. Leonards; 'Information on Slum Conditions,' Dr. Lorman; 'Baby Life in the Slums of New York,' Dr. Duncan.

"NEITHER DO I,
DUKE; SAYS I."*Dollie Mings Tells of Chat
With Kahanamoku.*She Thinks He Is a Prince,
Not a Duke.*Mermaid Wants Revenge on Northern Swimmers.

The Duke says to me, 'You know, Dollie, I don't feel all swelled up over being a champion.' Neither do I, Duke," says I. Believe me, Duke Kahanamoku is all right and he'll make a hit down here." All of this constitutes a boost for Duke Kahanamoku and especially so when Miss Dollie Mings, holder of the national woman's fifty-yard record, is the person who is the author of the statement.

I certainly will be glad when the Portola races are held in San Francisco, 'cause I'll get a chance to show that bunch up there that I can beat them just as badly in the 440 as I can in the fifty. They're all scared to come down here and swim in the rough-water race, but I'll show 'em in October."

OUT FOR BLOOD.

Entirely forgetful of the fact that she had smashed a long-standing record by a big margin, Dollie Mings's mind though on her arrival here was to remain the laziest that she lost through getting a cramp in the middle lap of the 440. "And just as I was getting ready to sprint too," she said almost tearfully. "Anyway, everybody said that it was one of the best races they had saw, and that helps some," she added.

It certainly was an eventful wash for the Redondo mermaid. Starting with the fifty-yard dash on Friday, when she got left at the post through not understanding the rather primitive method of starting the race by calling the gun instead of firing off a pistol, and ending up with the discovery on her arrival that her house had been burned down during her absence, her northern trip was full of episodes.

I'm certainly getting tired of newspapermen," she said. "They all take my picture and promise to send me some and then that's the last I ever hear of them." This, with a few boosts for the Duke, Langer, Bowes and little Clyde Kegeris, and a few more for the young ladies who refused to compete in the rough-water race, constituted the principal part of her impressions of the northern trip.

TO TRAIN HARD.

Miss Mings expects to train hard for the Portola races and set up a new record in the 440. She has already done the distance in better than 7m. 30s. in practice and confidently expects to get down around 7:15 before the big race comes. In the meantime, she will enter the meets at the L.A.A.C., the rough water races and all the other meets in the south, in order to keep in shape for the big slice of revenge which she hopes to get in October.

On Saturday, Cliff Bowes, Wallace Robb and everybody else who salutes the wonderful Duke Kahanamoku perform are together in pronouncing the dusky Hawaiian as practically unbeatable. Robb, while raving about the class shown by the Duke in the northern meet, was asked if Langer wouldn't have a good chance to beat him in the rough-water race. "According to every law, Langer ought to beat him, but the Duke is such a horse that there is absolutely no doubt what he can do," was all that Robb would say.

LANGER DISAPPOINTED.

Langer was sadly disappointed that the Duke did not swim in the $80 dash, but he was not too much bothered than ever before and as he considers the $80 his natural distance, he figured that he had a good chance to at least run the Duke a close race, but the Hawaiian's desire to set up a new 100-yard record kept him from entering the longer distance.

Kahanamoku is to arrive this morning and tomorrow night will make his initial appearance in Southern California. Les Henry has made all the arrangements to have everything off the bat that the Duke will have a chance to set up new records in the fifty and 100-yard dashes. He will enter every event on the programme and Ludy will have his chance to put him in the $80 though Langer will be handicapped by competing in four water events.

Langer, Bowes, Henderson, Williams, Kegeris and Dollie Mings will represent Redondo Beach in the meet at the L.A.A.C. The Redondo bunch took second place to the Hui Nalu Club in the northern meet and Cliff Bowes won the cup for the California team, making the highest number of points.

BEACH FISHING POOR ON SUNDAY.

Les Gurnsey returned late Saturday night from a three-day fishing trip to San Clemente Island after swordfish. He managed to get a fine specimen weighing about 800 pounds and it was the genuine eastern kind with the "fat bill." His story is that not being able to hook one, he harpooned the one he did get. It was the first real swordfish of the season and in fact the first one landed in several years.

Karel and Labris fished down the Coast outside of Ocean Beach. Karel caught a nice "mess" of California trout and a sun sucker. This is a member of the croaker family, with the same mouth and habits, but it is longer and not so heavy as the croaker.

Frank Oswald and "Light Tackle" Flynn fished at La Jolla on Sunday and caught forty-two surf that averaged more than two pounds.

Both beach and ocean fishing was reported poor on Sunday and almost all of the sports complained of bad luck. Some of the old regulars like Charley Barton, for instance, got two trout and got all they wanted. C. L. Perry showed a surf at Tufts-Lyons yesterday that weighed about five pounds.

A. H. Cenger returned yesterday from Deep Creek with twelve fine rainbow trout which he managed to bring down through the hot valley. These were beauties.

Miss Dollie Mings,
Southern California champion over all distances and holder of the national record of 33 1-5s. for 50 yards.

AUTOS RETARD INTEREST
IN LOCAL YACHTING GAME.BY A. LESTER BEST
Ex-Secretary South Coast Club.

The Seawanhaka rule tends to produce a boat like the Columbine, until lately owned by A. J. Mitchell. This racing machine is 60 feet long, about 11 foot beam, and originally was 26 feet on the water line. She is speedy in smooth water, but at Santa Barbara, where there was a choppy sea and a whole sail breeze, was outclassed by the old Mischievous, and had to reef going over the course where the other boats were easily carrying full sail.

Her owner never took the chance of putting her in the race around Catalina Island, while much smaller boats like the Little Sea Bird and Myth have made the course with perfect safety and won the race at times.

FREAKS HURT GAME.

This type of freak in my opinion hurts the game, as the average yachtsman wants a boat which is speedy but still perfectly safe and comfortable for cruising, as well as racing, and the expense of maintaining a racing machine and also a comfortable cruiser is beyond the reach of most pocketbooks. What I have said above also applies to the Boston Bay rule.

The "universal" or displacement rule was adopted by the Atlantic Conference of Yacht Clubs and Associations in 1906, and with very few changes, and those for the purpose of simplification are still in general use. The clubs of the Great Lakes, where the Seawanhaka "freak" found its greatest stronghold, adopted the rule some years ago, and San Francisco adopted it in 1910, until at the present time all the races of any moment in the United States are controlled by it. The race for the America's Cup in 1914 will be run under it.

The theory of the universal rule is that a boat should be rated in accordance with the proportion the sail area bears to the area of submerged hull, so that a boat like the Columbine or Mischievous II, with large sail area and comparatively small underwater, getting their sailing lines when lying down under sail, will have to pay for their small water resistance in proportion to their propulsive power. This is evidently a fair rule for the greater number of boats, and gives a cruiser an even break with a racing machine.

UNIVERSAL BEST.

The best interests of yachting on this Coast lie in the development of good, able sea-going boats, which can hold their own in any company, and a comparison of boats built under the old rule, such as Columbine, Mischievous II and Detroit, with the local products of the universal rule, such as the Mah-pe, Winsome and Alert, will be infinitely in favor of the latter for seaworthiness and general all-round ability.

Foot for foot they may be somewhat slower, as they are dragging good hulls through the water and are not mere rafts with a big mast stuck in them. Speed is a relative term, however, and the test of good sport is the closeness of the contest.

That the universal rule is not the cause of the slump in yachting here is proven by the fact that the eastern sailing game is bigger and better than ever, and the San Francisco clubs are in the midst of one of their most successful seasons.

AUTOS KNOCK YACHTS.

The reason that very few sailing yachts have been built here during the last few years is to be laid to the ideal conditions existing here for motor boating, and the immense popularity of the automobile game. The men who used to take yachting for recreation are now testing out the good roads system.

It costs no more to build under the universal than the Seawanhaka rule, and decidedly less, when the qualities of the boats are taken into consideration. Yachting is beginning to show signs of returning to its old standard, and it is up to everyone to get together and boost in the true interests of the sport.

Looking for Game.*RITCHIE MAY HAVE HARD TIME GETTING A MATCH.

BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.

AN FRANCISCO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, July 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Apparently, there is no more line today on who will be the next opponent of Willie Ritchie than there was the afternoon the champion had successfully defended his title against Joe Rivers.

Ritchie says that he doesn't care who is named; that with him it is altogether a proposition of what sort of a guarantee he can expect from some promoter.

The promoters, although they have doubtless their own thoughts on the subject, are keeping strangely quiet and, to date, there has come to the champion nothing but tentative nibbling.

All that is settled is that Ritchie will have to be engaged before the September holidays. He refuses to go East before that time because he considers the weather too warm and he prefers a match in the September holidays.

JOBS SCARCE FOR CHAMP.

Bad Bud Anderson stopped Leach Cross, the one who would have landed with Anderson winner in Los Angeles, both Tom McCarey and Jimmy Crofford would have been bidding for his services against Ritchie.

On the other hand, bad Rivers won in the first race, Tom McCarey doubtless would have prepared to send him against Leach Cross or Anderson, as the case might be.

As matters stand, however, there's a difference. Leach Cross may be the most improvement in the world, but McCarey's record is better. In San Francisco, fight fans are bound to hearken back to the time when he was beaten down and knocked out by Fighting Dick Hyland.

As matters now stand, there are few lightweights who figure in the public mind against Ritchie—Freddie Welsh, the English champion; Leach Cross, Jack Britton, and Harry Murphy.

WELSH IS NO CARD.

So far as California promoters are concerned, Welsh isn't a heavy draw card and up in San Francisco, where they like him, the promoters so far has seen fit to offer Ritchie no guarantee but 50 per cent of a house that will not seat more than 600 people.

Ritchie, according to the reports, is well thought of in New Orleans. Some of the dispatches had it that Dominick, the champion, was the one who was prepared to give a $50,000 purse for a ten-round bout between Britton and Ritchie. If he did have any such scheme in his mind, Tortorich has so far failed to communicate directly with Ritchie.

Ritchie says that he doesn't care who is named; that with him it is altogether a proposition of what sort of a guarantee he can expect from some promoter.

All that is settled is that Ritchie will have to be engaged before the September holidays. He refuses to go East before that time because he considers the weather too warm and he prefers a match in the September holidays.

That sort of talk isn't impressive. The champion usually has the last word, and Crofford will doubtless be the one to name Ritchie for the title, but that they feel under obligations to him and that he can't be beaten.

Crofford could get Harlem Tommy Murphy on a moment's notice, and it will occasion no great surprise if the New York boy will eventually be named—that is, if the match takes place in the September holidays.

Malarkey bounced the ball off Maguire's head, and others gathered around the plate and endeavored to convince Bush that Hari could have avoided the blow had he taken the proper precautions. Maguire then started to yell and suddenly, through his own carelessness, hit Malarkey in the mouth.

THE A huge score of 4400 points Jerome Waller leaped to the high place yesterday, brushing both Polakoff and Little who were standing in his way.

He sent him spinning farther up than anyone has gone at any time, thus far, and set the high-water mark in scoring for the race.

Earle of Pomona did a very good job, also, with his 2800, but it was a slow day and nothing could keep him back.

Both Southard of Oxnard came in the next largest count—1650, a big one. Charles is in the game, now, and means to make a mark in it.

Mac Carkier, carried a banner for him and 480 points were in store for him. He broke into the tally yesterday and some new names were entered. It is believed that by the end of the week every one will have something to his or her credit and that the lines will be drawn up in the final count.

It is, in fact, already exciting as no day's score comes in. Some onlookers are already beginning to pick names and to indulge in side bets—or guess who to who will come in next in the tally.

There are some strange and interesting coincidences in The Times contests. We have mentioned two names so similar, Waller and Little, that it is a question of former years was of the identical name as a contestant this year—Earle Waller. Earle, who was in the contest of 1912, also lived at Long Beach during the summer of 1912. Earle Waller was the first president of Marquette College and although this was several years later, it was an Occidental scholarship which Earle V. received. There is no relationship between the present contestants Earle Waller and the former Earle, but the similarity in name, Mrs. Earle Waller, the mother of Earle V. and Earle, the son of Earle V. would like to assist the former Waller in his quest for the title.

Southard, the former Earle V., was a scholarship student at the University of Southern California for one year, scholarship value $65.

The San Diego Army and Navy Academy, value $550.

The Los Angeles Business College, two scholarships, one-year term, value $150; one eight months' term, value $100.

Egan School of Music and Drama, forty weeks' term, value $200.

Los Angeles Conservatory of Music and Art, three scholarships, one-year course, value $150; one piano course, value $100; one violin course, value $100.

Los Angeles School of Art and Design, two scholarships, each valued at $150.

Filmore School of Music, two scholarships, value of each $100.

Huntington Hall School for Girls, Oneonta Park, South Pasadena; Miss Florence Homann, principal.

Marquette Commercial College, two scholarships, one-year term, value $125; six months' term, value $75.

Holman Business College, two scholarships, one fifteen months' term, $125; one twelve-months' term, value $95.

Jean de Chauvenet Conservatory of Music, one scholarship of fifty lessons, value $150.

Southwestern University, one scholarship, two years' term, value $150.

Isaac-Woodbury Business College, two scholarships, consisting of one-year term, value $125, and six months' term, value $65.

Southern California College of Liberal Arts, one-year scholarship, value $80.

The San Diego Army and Navy Academy scholarship includes not only tuition, but board as well.

Franklin College, Clementon, Cal.

Lyric School of Music, Miss Luella McChen, principal.

The Harvard School (military), term one year, value $200.

The Harriet School of Music, term one year, piano value $200.

Reduced Rates Now in Effect

Go down and see the Warm Weather Paradise of Southern California. Where the cool ocean breezes blow, and where all the delights of surf and still water can be enjoyed to the fullest extent.

The South Coast has more natural attractions and resources than any other part of the Pacific Coast. To supplement them, hundreds of thousands of dollars are being expended on great public and private improvements for the convenience and entertainment of the people.

Withal, the South Coast is a place of quiet, restful home life, the mecca of the tired business man and weary housewife, and the delight of the kiddies. There a home can be acquired more cheaply and with greater attractions and advantages than can be found elsewhere.

Investigate! Spend your vacation on the South Coast and no further argument will be necessary.

Why Not Go Down Today?

WOMAN SICK FOURTEEN YEARS

Restored to Health by Lydia
E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Elkhart, Ind.—"I suffered for fourteen years from organic inflammation, female weakness, pain and irregularities. The pains in my sides were increased by walking or standing on my feet and I had such awful bearing down feelings, was depressed in spirits and became thin and pale with dull, heavy eyes. I had six doctors from whom I received only temporary relief. I decided to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial and also the Sanative Wash. I have now used the remedies for four months and cannot express my thanks for what they have done for me."

"If these lines will be of any benefit to you have my permission to publish them."—Mrs. SADIE WILLIAMS, 465 James Street, Elkhart, Indiana.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, contains no narcotic or harmful drugs, and to-day holds the record of being the most successful remedy for female ills we know of, and thousands of voluntary testimonials on file in the Pinkham laboratory at Lynn, Mass., seem to prove this fact.

If you have the slightest doubt in your mind Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman, and held in strict confidence.

Dispatch.] An old man, of the U.S.A., against Bessemer. The Superior Court last night adjourned the case until the month in order that M. H. C. Merriam, in an address on "Auditing the Birth Account," before the National Conference of Charities and Correction here this morning said, "every mother should specifically ask the person in attendance upon her whether the birth has been properly recorded." The birth is just as sacred as the marriage, and the reason for recording the marriage is, if anything, of lesser importance than the reasons for recording the birth. The community must therefore demand that persons who are in attendance at births shall make reports, and if they do not do so that they be prosecuted."

MINER KILLS HIMSELF.

Last Sunday, at his daughter's in the San Pedro Valley, Central Mining, accidentally shot himself through the head with a revolver, dying soon thereafter.

WOUNDED WHILE ASLEEP.

About a month ago Robert Murphy, a mysterious wounded while sleeping in his tent house at the Tejon, was found dead. Murphy made frequent visits to the Tejon, and the assaulter, and Terry, still live on the effects of the wound given to him in 1911. The friend is now a man, and has become a major at the garrison and return to barracks to live.

TRIO HURT IN EXPLOSION.

Three local Mexicans, prominent of the natural laws, recently tried to burn out a white man who was to be the new owner of the Tejon. The coincident explosion not only ruined the house, but caused material injury to the trees gashed and bruised by the flames.

SILVER BELL LITIGATION.

In the settlement of the silver bell litigation, the principal benefit appears to be the lawyers. In court, the receiver for the company will pay to Zwickendorf, C. E. Dwyer, and F. W. Hatch, State Commissioners and Dr. F. W. Hatch, State Medical Superintendent, both members of the advisory board of the Department of Engineering within a fortnight will inspect both the Tejon and the Tejachep roads which have agreed concomitantly in the routing of the State highway system between Bakersfield and Los Angeles.

WANT LOWER LIGHT.

A strong movement has been secured toward securing a lower electrical lighting in Tucson, and a similar effort to the south in Phoenix, where much more reliable rates have been offered by the Corporation Commission.

BITTEN BY RABID DOG.

There is now in the Mexican states, where the over supply has been sadly reduced, a new disease that has been decreed that all unguessed and shot dead. The trouble started from a dog owned by a Japanese restaurant keeper, that ran away and carried off a person, and at least twenty persons, as well as the pound master, the dog was captured and turned over to the police, and the owner, who turned it over to the police, seeks to prosecute for the damage to his property. Examination of the brain showed unmistakable signs of rabies. The victim included Sol Eber, a keeper, a Mexican girl, and a small Mexican boy. All are given the Pasteur treatment.

DONATES DRINKING FOUNTAIN.

Mrs. H. S. Powell, widow of Capt. Powell, military attaché at the University of Arizona, has given her house to the city, a drinking fountain in her former husband's name, and the city has been placed on the list of the best in the country.

HONEYMOON IN LOS ANGELES.

Mr. and Mrs. Banning Van Dorn, after spending the first year of their married life on the Colorado River, have now settled in the city of Tucson. The marriage was performed by Father Connolly, in his house at an early hour this morning. Mr. Van Dorn is manager of the ranch of the San Joaquin Land and Cattle Company, bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Ferry of this city, has been an eminent member of the younger set of Tucson.

TRY THE BLUE CAULIFLOWER.

It's a Hybrid Resembling the ordinary Vegetable and the Pickling Cabbage.

OAKLAND, July 8.— Flower, the latest novelty in horticultural, was introduced to the public today by Hugo Lillien, instructor in the University of California. The new plant is a hybrid of the purple "pickling" cabbage and its cousin to the cauliflower.

NOT THAT IT MATTERS.

Roosevelt Changes His Itinerary Will Be.

SALT LAKE CITY, July 8.— Advocates were received here

from Nicholas Roosevelt of Ariz., that Col. Theodore Roosevelt had changed his plans and now known where he would go to the Grand Canyon of the Colorado River, what his itinerary will be, and enter persons. Col. Roosevelt wished it announced, however, that Nicholas Roosevelt, while in Arizona, had never ordered him to hunting while he is in Arizona.

Public Service: City Hall, Courts.

SUMMARY OF THE DAY.
The City Council was briefly addressed by the new Mayor yesterday and nine groups or departments were then created, with a Councilman at the head of each.

By request of Mayor Rose, President Henderson of the Public Service Commission resigned yesterday.

The new Mayor made his first appointment yesterday—Boyle Workman as a member of the Public Service Commission.

At the City Hall.

AWFUL STILLNESS IN THE ROOKERY.

FIRST DAY OF ROSE REGIMEN WEIRDLY PEACEFUL.

Council Names Its New Committee, Frankie Henderson Quits, New Mayor Signs His First Ordinance and Sends First Appointment in but That's Just About All.

When the new City Council met at 9 o'clock yesterday morning President Whiffen announced that the Mayor was present and would make an address.

The Mayor did. "I came in to greet you," he said, "and to congratulate you. I also want to express the hope that you will be able to accomplish great things for the city during your terms of office." The Mayor's remarks were greeted with a ripple of applause, and the Council seated down to work.

An ordinance establishing nine groups or departments with a Councilman at the head of each was passed in conformity with the charter amendment provision which became effective with the new administration. The Mayor's remarks were greeted with a ripple of applause, and the Council seated down to work.

Public Service, including fire and police departments, City Prosecutor, police surgeons and emergency hospital, John W. Snowden in charge, W. J. Bryan, F. J. Whiffen.

Public Utilities, including water, municipal light and power, aqueduct, Martin Betkowski in charge, Charles McKenzie, J. S. Conwell.

Finance, including Treasurer, Tax Collector, Assessor and Auditor, F. J. Whiffen in charge, J. S. Conwell, H. W. Reed.

Public Welfare, including parks, playgrounds, art, humane, animal, planning, library, moving pictures and charities, F. C. Wheeler in charge, M. F. Betkowski, F. C. Langdon.

Public Works, including street maintenance and improvements, City Engineer, building, boiler and elevator inspector, oil inspector, city electrician, plumbing and gas inspector, land and public buildings, W. J. Bryan in charge, Charles McKenzie, J. S. Conwell.

Public Health and Sanitation, including purchasing department, civil service, City Clerk, Sealer of Weights and Measures, City Attorney, J. S. Conwell in charge, M. F. Betkowski, W. J. Bryan.

Harbor, including municipal harbor and municipal railway, F. C. Langdon in charge, F. C. Wheeler, F. J. Whiffen.

Public Utilities, including Board of Public Utilities, regulation of rates of privately owned public utilities, other public utility problems, Charles McKenzie in charge, H. W. Reed, F. G. Landen.

The arrangement gives each Councilman a chairmanship of a department and places him upon two other committees. A Rules Committee consisting of Conwell, Betkowski and Reed was appointed to revise and make rules under which the Council has been operating to meet new conditions.

An ordinance of intention to pave Pacific avenue was adopted as well as Sunset boulevard, between Main and Marion. The Board of Public Works will call for bids at once. The Pacific Avenue-Fourteenth street harbor boulevard in the San Pedro district is for the use of auto trucks handling freight between the harbor and the city.

The Public Welfare Committee, of which Wheeler is chairman, will consider the method of securing the proposed industrial commission.

Building Inspector Backus was requested by Council to accept the invitation of the Building Ordinance Committee to be a member of the committee that it may have the benefit of his advice before passing upon the new ordinances. The report of this committee will not be ready for several weeks.

NOTHING STIRRING.
ON MAYOR'S FIRST DAY.

A calm almost passing understanding pervaded the City Hall yesterday, the first full day of the new administration. Beyond the meeting of the Council in the morning, little marred the surface. The Mayor was at his desk before 8 o'clock, and after slipping a happy "good morning" to the Council spent the remainder of his office going over routine matters with his secretary, and receiving callers. Not a wheel moved under the several boards and commissions, and the routine of a mid-summer afternoon was undisturbed.

The state motto was still, but the seers running about in circles. He says he is going to take his time and his actions so far prove it. Instead of the bustle and excitement which ordinarily accompany a change in administration the ancient art was almost deserted, and clerks and attachés went about their accustomed tasks as though the birth of a new order of things were the most natural thing in the world. In the one of the quietest days at the Broadway administrative temple in a long time, and any anxiety over impending changes was carefully concealed.

HENDERSON RESIGNS.
AT MAYOR'S PLEASURE.

The expected happened yesterday when Mayor Rose asked Frank G. Henderson, president of the Public Service Commission, for his resignation. The document was promptly forthcoming, and so ended the pleasure of the Mayor. Because of the Council's insistence upon continuing the rule requiring a week's intermission between appointments and confirmation except on the Fire and Police Commission for which the Mayor is directly responsible, the resignation may not be made effective for several days.

FIRST APPOINTMENT. ROSE NAMES WORKMAN.

The first appointment sent to the City Council by Mayor Rose was that of Boyle Workman to the Board of Public Service Commission. Action was deferred for one week, which means that the commissioners will have to scrape along with its present complement of members for a few days longer. No other appointments were made down by His Honor. The Mayor told inquirers that it would be useless to go to him with rumors for affirmation or denial.

FIRST ORDINANCE SIGNED BY ROSE.

Mayor Rose signed his first ordinance yesterday afternoon. Before his term expires two years hence he will have subscribed his name to official documents many thousands of times. The first bill to receive the impress of the official pen amends Ordinance No. 17,724, which prohibits the establishment of riding academies, brigades or coal yards in residential areas.

The ordinance already eliminated power-using factories, stone crushers, rolling mills, planing mills, carpet-making establishments, wood and lumber yards, public laundries and wash houses.
